AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS TAK HEAVY TOLL; DEATH RATE 100 MONTH IN NEW YORK

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—Aumobile traffic accidents through out the country are on the increase except where "safety first" campaigns have been inaugurated. David Van Schaak, president of the National Safety Council, told the National

Traffic Officers' Association convention today.

One person is killed every thirtyfive minutes from this cause, he said, while in New York City the automobile death rate is 190 a month.

A traffic ordinance limiting the speed of motor vehicles to ten miles an hour in the business sections of cities, fitteen miles in the residential districts and twenty miles in outlying portions was recommended for nation-wide adoption by Frederick P.
Vose of the Chicago association of

as the result of a speeding automobile."

Capt. John W. O'Connor of the New York City traffic department said that a uniform nation-wide traffic ordinance, if concise, simple, well advertised and thoroughly enforced would be a big stride toward relieving traffic problems.

"In my opinion a driver is entitled to a clear roadway from one street intersection to another without interference," he stated.

Capt. O'Connor voiced the opinion that an ordinance like that of Paris forbidding pedestrians to cross streets except at the corners would work well in this country, although attempts to pass such a law had failed many a time.

Business organizations entertained the delegates today at luncheon. A banquet and dance constituted tonight's program.

RATIFICATION | BENSON READY OF SUFFRAGE IS CERTIFIED.

Tennessee Governor Sends Papers to Secretary of State

THE A. P. NIGHT WIRE. 1 NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Aug. 24. NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Aug. 24.—
Certification of Tennessee's ratification of the Federal suffrage amendment was en route by mail tonight to Washington. On its receipt there by Secretary of State Colby late tomorrow or Thursday suffrage and vocates expect issuance of the formal proclamation making the amendment a part of the organic law of the land and placing 22,000,000 American women on an equality with men at the ballot box.

Gov. Roberts placed the certification in the mail today after receiving from State Attorney-General Thompson an opinion that a writ of certiforari and supersedas, issued last night by Chief Justice Lansden of the Tennessee Supreme Court, in effect set aside on order temporarily restraining the Governor-from taking such action.

The injunction was obtained Saturday by citizens of Nashville opposed to suffrage, on the plea that action on the amendment by the present Legislature was in violation of the State constitution.

The action may transfer to Wash-

Legislature was in violation of the State constitution.

The action may transfer to Washington the battle over legality of ratification, anti-suffrage leaders declaring the American Constitutional League was prepared to apply to the District of Columbia Supreme Court for an order restraining Secretary Colby from issuing the proclamation. So far as court action in Tennessee is concerned the only thing in prespect for opponents is to request the Supreme Court to rescind the individual action of Justice Lansden. The court meets September 20.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24. — Iswashington, ang 24. — Is suance of a proclamation by the State Department formally announcing ratification by three-fourths of the States of the suffrage amendment is expected by suffrage leaders within twenty-four hours. Their prediction was based on Secretary Coloy's tracecent announcement that he was prepared to issue the proclamation as soon as he received the official notification from Gov. Roberts of Tennessee, which, dispatches from Nashville said, was placed in the mails today.

He warmly defended President Wilson. referred to his detractors as "unworthy Americans," paid tribute to Gov. Cox. sharply criticised Senator Harding and the methods of the Republican convention at Chicago and predicted a Democratic victory in November. In the main his address dealt in generalities.

The candidate's unaffected youthfulness and his manifest good nature appeared to make a good impression on his audience. His opening reference to Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt as being "great Americans and leaders in world thought" evoked applause.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Democratic State Centrol Committee. W. C. Shelton. a local attorney, served as chairman, Judge Robert S. Marks of Cincinnati opened the affair with a defense of Gov. Cox and his acceptance of the Wilsonian viewpoints as paramount issues in the campaign. He also condemned as "viclous, lying propagands" an attempt which he said was being made on the Pacific Coast to show the Ohio Governor to be a "second-rater."

Just before entering the auditorium, Mr. Roosevelt mounted a box and addressed a group gathered on the sidewalk.

"It hank you for this show of interest in the Democratic cause," he said. "This is the first overflow meet. In the Democratic cause," he said. "This is the first overflow meet. SLIM PICKING.

The Congressional junketers are declining nearly all proffers of entertainment in Korea. People who have banqueted in Korea will not blame them much.

BAD TO TAKE.

The Poles are said to have taken nearly 100,000 Red prisoners since the repulse at the gates of Warsaw. But what good are they? Almost any man would rather take caster oil than a Bolshevik prisoner.

NOT MUCH TO LOSE.

The Farmer-Labor party has lost its designation in this State and the candidates for elector will have to appear as independents if at all. But, at that, it isn't much of a loss. They never will be missed.

HEATING PROBLEMS.

Canada is buying up all the American coal it can get and at any old price. And we will say that it takes a powerful lot of the black stuff to keep Canada warm—especially if they expect to heat Hudson Bay. Looks as if the coal mines of America ought to be kept hopping night and day to take care of the world.

GOING BACKWARD.

It is announced that there has been a cancellation of orders or return of sold noods to the New England woolen mills mounting to $200,000,000 in value. That is one reason why the all-wool suit has about disappeared from the market. Maybe we are following the Germans and, making them from paper.

A HIGH CRIME.

It is said that they are bottling a mixture of sweetened water, dyestuffs and the oil from orange peel and selling it in the East as California orange juice. Nothing less than capital punishment should be the portion of the malignant and infamous apostle of Borgia responsible for such malicious deception. To the rack with him. Shall our sunkissed nectar be taken in vain? No

SAFE AND SANE SAFE AND SANE.

Senator Harding has not only built up a fine newspaper property in his town, but he is a director in its leading bank and is interested in a number of its largest and most successful industries, ranging from a lumber yard to the telephone exchange. He is an all-round business man and his advice and experience have been found valuable with almost all the enterprises with which he has been connected.

CROM THE TOMBS. Eugene Debs is trying to get even with the rest of them by running a paided cell campaign. From the bowels of his stone campaign. From the bowels of his stone retreat he new sends word that the Farmer-Labor party will not survive more than a single season; that the League of Nations controversy doesn't amount to a darn and the only issue before the public is the coal shortage. Both Harding and Cox are fend ones, according to Eugene. They have been stuffed to make them appear real, but they, get their only inspiration from the cametery. Having amitted this many the cametery. the blinds. He doesn't like anybody, any-how, and doesn't care to be disturbed.

SETTLING THE SCORE Senator Gore of Oklahoma is about to join the procession of "bitter-enders" on their way to private life. His Oklahoma constituents have refused to renominate him for United States Senator, preferring Representative Scott Ferris, whose war record is without stain and who is not "bitter-ender," but a mild reservationist.

Senator Gore owes his defeat in the Dem ocratic primaries to his war record and his attitude during the Senate debates on the peace treaty. He was not originally a "bitter-ender," but he joined that group as the discussion progressed. He made common cause with Reed, Johnson and Borah and he is now paying the price. His popularity began to wane when he voted against the selective draft in 1917. He then advocated raising only a voluntary way. cated raising only a volunteer army. He would have had the willing patriots offer themselves as a sacrifice on the battlefields, while the unwilling ones remained at home and joined in the war profiteering Such a policy was a plain shirking of the duties of citizenship under representative government. Every citizen enjoys equally the protection which a free gow ernment affords, and every citizen is equal-ly bound to repay that protection with ly bound to repay that protection with whatever secrifice may be necessary to protect it against arrogant despotism. That question was settled by the World War. Just as the question of slavery was settled by the Civil War. Senator Gore probably was sincere in his opposition to the telective draft; but he was not in harmony with the patriotic thought of the country at large; and when he added to this his declaration for a policy of isolation for his country his unpopularity became so promounced that he was easily beaten in the primaries.

No "bitter-ender" or opponent of the se-lective draft has been honored by his constituents in this year's elections. Some of them have sensed their unpopularity and declined to stand for renomination; the others have been beaten at the polls. Only the mild reservationists have been reward-ed by popular support.

THE TENTH INDUSTRIAL CITY: WHY?

OS ANGELES is now the first city on the Pacific Coast, not only in OS ANGELES is now the first city on the Pacific Coast, not only in population, but in the number of its industries and the value of its industrial products. The Federal census of 1920 shows it to be the tenth city of America both in population and industry. How has this come to pass? Cities, like people, have individual lives, personal virtues and defects. Los Angeles is young. Its heart still pulsates with the passions of youth; it has none of the vices or sterility of old age. Not for centuries will it, like the cities of China and India, approach senility.

Those who have viewed, with a mingling of marvel and envy, its luxurious growth, have sought to find in it something ephemeral, unstable, a diseased root that will cause the foliage to wither before the fruit ripens. They are loth to believe that such prosperity can be permanent. They have even openly hoped for the complicity of nature to check our development. Supremely indifferent, alike to flattery and malice, Los Angeles continues to forge ahead. It is leading its individual life in its own way, tolerant of the envious, gracious to its admirers; coquettish, perhaps, but neither a wanton nor a prude.

Contrary to the affected belief of its envious detractors, chance and sunny skies are not alone or in the main responsible for what Maurice Maeter-linck, the Belgian mystic, termed "a city of enchantment." It required something more than roses blooming in December and April breezes dispelling the heat of midsummer to enable Los Angeles to advance in a generation from the rank of a frontier town to the tenth city, alike in population and industry, in the United States.

OS ANGELES has achieved with justice the repute of being the freest city in the freest land under the sun. It is not a community "where wealth accumulates and men decay." It is the city of opportunity, where the right to work is as indisputable as the right to leisure. He who seeks employment is not asked, "Are you in good standing with your union? Have you been suspended or expelled in some other industrial community for breaking union rules?" but "What have you done, and what can you do?"

Industrial Los Angeles is builded on principle, a principle as old as civili-sation itself; it is the right of every individual to work where he pleases, at any occupation he elects, and for which he can qualify, and at wages which are mutually acceptable to him and his employer. Here he is guaranteed the right to labor, the right to possess and the right of the uninterrupted enjoyment of

For a generation Los Angeles has been educating her youth to the open-point of view, so that now it is as characteristic and ingrained in the Los Angeles business man as is the closed-shop viewpoint of a San Franciscan. Each city has molded itself according to its beliefs and each city draws its own kind. Free labor and labor that would be free gravitates to Los Angeles from every corner of America. Union labor and those that stand for it as naturally

Here there is no bitter conflict between capital and labor. Most shore are operated under the wage system; the employer furnishes the tools, the building, the material, the credits: assumes the financial responsibility of management, finds a market for the product, establishes an endless chain which brings each week enough money to the cashier's window to fill the pay envelopes. This is the so-called "capitalist system" at which the Bolshevists rant; but it is the only one which has stood the test of the ages. It is the system that has banished from industry human slavery, the only one that guarantees the independence of the individual and makes community life tolerable for all its members.

But not all the shops are operated under the wage system. There are co-operative establishments where each employee is part owner, where tools and material are supplied in common, where the amount of money in the pay envelope depends not on the amount of labor performed, but on the varying success of the industry. If there is a good market for the goods produced, the workmen are well paid; but if there is a slump in business, each workman finds in his envelope, not currency, but a notice of assessment.

There are also what are termed "closed-shop" industries, where only persons paying dues to a specified union and obeying its rules and regulations can secure employment. No man who has been suspended from a branch of the union, in any community, for any cause, can be employed, irrespective of his ability, his need of employment and the need of workmen. In the closed shops each workman is told by a business agent of the union what hours he may labor, what wages he must demand and when he shall go out on strike. The employer, like the workman, is at the mercy of the walking delegate. The workman ceases to be a free agent, the industry is no longer free; human servitude has been reintroduced under a new disguise. The nature of the servitude was well illustrated a few days ago when the officials of the Chicago unions passed a resolution declaring for a general strike if this country should servitude was well illustrated a few days ago when the officials of the Chicago unions passed a resolution declaring for a general strike if this country should attempt to give any aid to the heroic Polish patriots in their struggle for freedom. The men carrying union cards would have been forced to commit an act of treason, under penalty of suspension from the union. And suspension in Chicago for that cause would have barred them from employment in a closed shop anywhere in the country while the suspension lasted.

THE spirit of industrial freedom which animates Los Angeles makes such servitude intolerable; and there are fewer closed shops here than in any other community of equal size in the country. Yet this is entirely a matter of personal choice. Any employer or group of employers can operate a closed shop. The open shop industries do not retaliate by refusing employment to men carrying union cards. There is no opposition to workmen associating together in any organization that is not a menace to free government and the public welfare. Freedom of choice, however, is reserved alike to employer and employee. The government imposes strict regulations on the organization of amployers, under the Sherman Act and other kindred laws; and the izations of employers, under the Sherman Act and other kindred laws; and the workmen themselves decline, for the most part, to surrender their freedom to the walking delegate for the privilege of paying tribute to a labor union.

Employment in Los Angeles is not dependent upon membership or non-membership in any labor union; it depends upon the initiative, the ability and the industry of the individual; and wages are segulated by the natural law of Such are the conditions under which Los Angeles has grown to be one of the great industrial cities of America; under which it has outstripped twenty other American cities in ten years. That they are satisfactory to labor is demonstrated by the thousands of expert workmen who are coming here yearly from communities where industrial freedom is comparatively unknown. yearly from communities where industrial freedom is comparatively unknown. A new generation of workmen is growing here that has never known the thrall-dom of the labor unions; but the great majority of those engaged in the three thousand odd industries of Los Angeles county have been at one time members of labor unions. Some of them still retain their membership; but most have found it more profitable to assert their independence and initiative and to devote the money that once went in dues to the union to paying for a bungalow

As soon as it became known that there were competent workmen in Los Angeles to operate independent industries capital quickly followed. Government statistics show that the average wage paid in Los Angeles industrial establishments during the last ten years has been well above the average of that in other sections of the country. And the working conditions under a climate where there is neither excessive heat nor cold and where the cost of living is below the average have kept the stream of expert labor flowing to Los Angeles at a flood tide. Simultaneously the fame of Los Angeles as the leading open-shop city of America has attracted employers and industrial plants of the first importance. As the number of workers has grown so has the volume of work

IV.

If LOS ANGELES is to retain the advantage which it has so hardly bought during the last thirty years it must not alone jealously guard the open-shop principle—it must continue to demonstrate by results that the open-shop principle is the best for employer and employed alike. The city regularly pays a little better than the union scale, the opportunities for advancement are better, living conditions are more desirable. Our phenomenal industrial growth is the natural corollary and so long as the causes are maintained the results will continue to come with the infallibility of a mathematical formula.

Principles and theories are proved or disproved by their application. The example of Los Angeles refutes the criticism of the minions of the closed shop. It is true that its progress has been notably aided by the natural advantages that Southern California possesses. Our harbor makes of Los Angeles a maritime city; our hinterland produces a great part of the necessary supply of raw material. The Imperial Valley has solved the problem of raw cotton; mountain lakes and streams give a practically inexhaustible supply of water and electric power; great oil fields solve the problem of fuel; millions of acres of agricultural land furnish the necessary food products; from the mines come a bountiful supply of different ores; and from the heavens descends a climate in which labor becomes a veritable pleasure the twelve months round.

- To be continued!

THE TOWN TRAPPER The Mayor will soon have the appointment of an official trapper for the city of Los Angeles. The incumbent is expected to snare rodents and squirrels and thereby spare the city from the perils of the bu onic plague. Any able-bodied voter might be eligible, but a man who can play the piccolo on the City Hall steps and charm the rats out of the bowels of a Chinese ship at San Pedro would be most desirable. Even if he had to go aboard the vessel with a snare drum he would do. The big idea is to keep the town from any invasion the part of the massive sea-going rodents that sometimes infest our shipping. The official trapper may wear a badge which will permit him entry into any place where rats are apt to congregate—even into our six best cellars. We are not to have any plague in our midst, even if we have to spear every rat between here and Hong-kong. Safety first!

AN OHIO PRECEDENT. BY E. K. RIFE.

Little of moment in pational or State politics has happened in this country for a half century that has reproduced in Ohio at some time in

Its picturesque political history.

The spectacle of the Democrat members of the lower house of the Tennessee Legislature leaving Nash-ville and going to Decatur, Ala., in order to prevent a querum and the final vote on the equal-suffrage amendment to the Constitution had its replica in Ohio thirty-four years ago. In the Ohio, as well as the Tennessee, instance the Democrats spilled the beans.

In Ohio the Democratic Senators, with a single exception, left the State and went to Covington, Ky., in order to defeat the unseating of four Democratic members of the Senate from Cincinnati who had been re-turned as elected after the consum-mation of one of the most brasen frauds in Ohio politics—and there have been a number of such per-formances in the Buckeye State. It was in January, 1886, and John Sherman was a candidate to sucformances in the Buckeye State.

It was in January, 1386, and John Sherman was a candidate to succeed himself in the Senate. The Legislature was close on joint ballot, and the seating of the four Democrats from Hamilton county would have defeated Sherman. In the previous year Gov. Foraker had been elected for a second time, and "Fighting Bob" Kennedy, who still lives at Bellfontaine, Logan county, was chosen Lieutenant-Governor. As such it was his duty to preside over the Senate.

The Legislature met on the first Monday of January. The vote on the Senatorship was set for a late date that month. Meanwhile the four Hamilton county Senators returned as elected on garbled feturns, were demanding to be seated. A committee was sent to Cincinnati to investigate, and the raport showed that outrageous frauds had been committed there. The old Ninth ward was the scene of the frauds, one of the instances being that several hundred negroes had been locked in a celler and prevented from voting.

A resolution was offered in the been locked in a celler and prevented from voting.

A resolution was offered in the Senate (the Hamilton county Senators having no vote thereon) declaring that the four Democrats (who were known in Ohio politics as the "Hamilton county frauds") were not entitled to their seats. It was on this resolution that the trouble came. Days were spent in parliamentary wrangles, and party trouble came. Days were spent in parliamentary wrangles, and party apirit ran high. Trouble was feared, but cooler counsel prevailed.

One morning only a single Democratic Senator appeared in his seat. He was flon. A. R. Van Cleaf of the Pickaway-Franklin district, who had been delegated by his colleagues to remain at his post while they skipped mut on a night train for Kentucky. This was to break the quorum and prevent a vote on the resolution.

Kentucky. This was to break the quorum and prevent a vote on the resolution.

But Lieut. Gov. Kehnedy was equal to the occasion. The clerk of the Senate was Charles Vallandigham of Montgomery county, son of Clement L. Vallandigham, who was defeated for Governor of Ohio in 1863 by John Brough and whose rebel unterances will be recalled by the older readers of The Times. Vallandigham had been defeated for reelection and turned Republican. Gov. Cox at that time was but 18 years of age, attending the high school at Amanda, Fairfield county, long before he was known in any political way.

Vallandigham was a fine parliamentarian and he dug out of the proceedings at some time in the history of the Ohio Legislature a precedent that served to allow the vote to be taken without the presence of the Democrats. The feeling was much that it would have been done. Anyhow, but a convenient rule was found justifying the move.

Senator Van Cleaf demanded a roll call on a score of metions, but no aftention was paid to him, and the Republican Senators from Hamilton county were sented and the "frauda" denied seats. Sherman liten county were seated and the "frauds" denied seats. Sherman was elected to the Sanata, where he remained until March, 5, 1897, when he entered the McKinley Cabinet as Secretary of State, which post he resigned April 25, 1898.

The Democrate who appealed out

The Democrats who sneaked out of the State to avoid a vote seating the fairly and honestly chosen Re-publican four from Hamilton county never recovered from the humiliation caused by their action, and up to the dying day of Senator Van Cleaf, about three years ago, it was not affe in his presence to twit him about how he stood on the burning deck whence all but him had fled without being prepared for a fight.

mere fact that Harry yesterday joined the Mormons as their regular right fielder has no peculiar aignificance to it. It was a foregone sonclusion that he would strengthen the leading Utes.

CALIFORNIA NEEDS HYDRO-ELECTRICITY

Statistics gathered by the "Electrical World" show that the electric light and power industry has never shown a period of decreased gross earnings even during the war; that practically one-third of the 20,000,000 American homes have electric service, and that the domand for service is so great that $750,000,-000 of new capital is needed at the present time by the industry.

The Power situation in California furnishes a strfking illustration of the above statements. ever-increasing demand must come from tically no coal and our oil is already selling at almost prohibitive prices. The only perpetual power and the power least affected by labor conditions is water power. All of these facts combine to make secure the continued pros perity of the industry.

The Great Western Power Company of California serves the greater part of Central California, and a population of approximately, 1,350,000 with electric power and lighting. It was incorporated in 1915 under the laws of California, for the purpose of unifying the Great Western Power Company, and has acquired in wee, subject to existing liens, all the properties, rights and franchises formerly owned by the Great Western Power Company, the City Electric Company and the Consolidated Electric Company.

In the past seven years, the connected load has increased from 135, 000 to about 290,000 horse-power, according to statements of the company, and the number of consumers from 12,000 to 30,000. During the war a report on the Central California market by a representative of the Power Division of the War Industries Board showed an excess of 30,000 horse-power of demand over supply, and a normal annual increase in demand of more than 25,000 horse-power than 25,000 horse-power of demand over supply, and a normal annual increase in demand of more than 25,000 horse-power.

Owing to the high price of fuet oil, the demand for electric power greatly increased since the war. Due to the fact that during the war construction was virtually at a standstill, the shortage of hydrotric power in California is now still greater, and the demand should tilly after its completion absorb the entire 59,000 horsepower output is new plant, the company states.

The purpose of the present issue, it should be stated, is to provide is, which, together with those now on hand, will be sufficient to come the Caribou Plant and new transmission lines now under constructions. This work is now about 70 per cent finished, and its final cost can leasily estimated.

The net earnings of the Great Western Power Company, according to its statement in connection with the present issue, were $2,903,202 for the twelve months ending July 31, 1919 and $2,787,535 for the same period ending July 31, 1920. The net earnings for the twelve-month period ending July 31, 1921, based upon present rates, are estimated by the company at $3,562,000.

The net earnings, exclusive of interest during construction, are given by the company as more than one and one-half times the annual interest on the total mortgage debt, including this issue. This is with but one month's benefit from the recent surcharges granted by the State Railroad Commission, which it is estimated will add $70,000 to the net monthly earnings and without benefit from new construction, which, when completed through the present financing, will increase the company's hydroalectric output about 68 per cent.

it is pointed out that there has liken no reduction in cloth or labor costs, and that as soon as demand reduces the temporary oversupply, prices will return to about the level of last season.

That the trade is somewhat at sea is shown by the recommendation towards conservative buying, while manufacturers are proceeding with caution, and under reduced speed, so that a repetition of the overstocking may be avoided.

All of these facts make the local merchant exceedingly wary in his predictions, and he is loft to admit the prebability of a falling market.

Los Angeles will have its first taste of 6-cent street-car fare, that being the cost of a local frip on the Parelic Electric, while the commuter who neglects to lay in a supply of rides will pay 20 per cent more than he has been paying.

An early decision from the Railroad Commission is looked for granting the Los Angeles Street Railway Company, which operates the yellow cars the right to advance its charge to 6 cents. Los Angeles was one of three cities of the first class in the United States remaining on a 5-cent hasis, and now that we are about to slip San Francisco and Cleveland are all that are left, and the former municipality will desert the lowly litney just as soon as the public decides it has paid enough for the fun of playing conductor.

Both mines and oils shared in the revival. Eight thousand shares of Telluride were traded in from an opening price of 42 cents to later transactions at 39 cents. United Eastern, on the other hand, recovered from an opening of $2.62½ to final sales at $2.65.

The two Union Oil stocks were sightly stronger, the California offering selling up to $176.50 and the Delaware Company to $27.87%. General Petroleum was around $132.50.

FGGS ADVANCE

Eggs advanced sharply yesterday in line with the forecasts of last week when it was said that the low mark for the season had probably been reached and that frequent increases might be expected until the midwinter peak has been attained. At the produce exchange call late yesterday afternoon the price of fresh extras was es ablished at 60 cents, and pullets at 56 cents, an increase from the preceding day of 1% cents for the first grade and 1 cent for the pullets. San Francisco quotations were 65 and 58 cents, a 5-cent advance.

Exempt From Personal Property Tax in California

The Company agrees to pay interest without deduction for any Normal Federal Income Tax up to 4% which it may lawfully pay at the source. Under the present law the Company will pay 2% tax deductible at the source.

Purposes of the Issue: This issue is to provide funds which, with those on hand, will complete the Caribou plant and new transmission line, increasing the hydro-electric output by about 68 per cent and conservatively estimated to add $2,000,000 to the annual net earnings.

The work on the Caribou plant by Stone & Webster, Inc., is 70 per cent complete. It is confidently expected that it will be finished, with an initial capacity of 59,000 horsepower, and be in operation March 1, 1921.

beginning August 1, 1922, it will pay to the Trustee annually a sinking fund sufficient to call by lot every bond of this issue at 105 and interest.

CONVERTIBLE FEATURES: When these bonds are called their holders may either accept 105 and interest in cash, or may receive in exchange First Refunding 7% Bonds, par for par, and a bonus of

If, however, holders wish to exchange 8% bonds for 7% bonds before the former are called, they may do so at any time after the required 7% bonds have been pledged as security, receiving a bonus of 21/2% in

Based on the above table, the return for the six years average maturity will be 8.89%.

Hydro-electric power is essential to the prosperity of California. Never before has there been such a state-wide demand for it, and never before has the future of the Great Western Power Company of California been so firmly assured.

SINKING FUND: The Company covenants that, PROPERTIES AND FIELD: The Great Western Power Company of California serves the greater part of Central Cal-fornia and a population of approximately 1,350,000.

> Its extensive hydro-electric generating and distribution includes Lake Almanor, the largest artificial lake in California storing 300,000 acre feet of water at an elevation of 4450 feet. By raising the dam, 1.250,000 acre feet can be stored in a area of twenty square miles owned by the Compa

The present connected load is 290,000 horsepower. It has 30,000 direct consumers. By successively using the water stored in Lake Almanor, the Company could eventually develop the enormous total of 640,000 horsepower.

Recent investigations show an excess of 30,000 ho of demand over supply, and a normal annual increase in demand of 25,000 horsepower. Due to the high price of ful oil and its rapidly diminishing supply, the demand for hydroelectric power should shortly absorb the entire output of the new Caribou plant.

EARNINGS: Without benefit of recent rate increase, or timated to add $840,000 net annually, net earnings for year ending July 31, 1920, were one and one-half times annual interest on total mortgase debt plus $640,000 interest on this is sue, and on $6,000,000 six per cent bonds issued for contraction from which no earnings have yet been derived. It is conservatively estimated that net earnings for the year ending July, 31, 1921, will amount to twice these interest charges.

collateral security: This issue, besides being a general mortgage on the entire property, subject to underlying liens, is to be collaterally secured by ultimate deposit with the trustee of an equal par amount of a new series "B" First and Refunding 7% (underlying) Bonds due August 1, 1950. It is followed by $4,243,200 Debentures and by Stocks of a present market value of about $15,000,000. The outstanding First and Refunding Bonds are certified as a legal investment for California savings banks, and application will be made to certify the new 7% series as issued.

TITE recommend these bonds as an exceptional short-term in vertible on attractive terms into long-term 7% underlying bonds.

Three Are Arrested at Winery;

Bootleg Expose Promised.

A bootlegging sensation, involving a number of people well known in the Cucamonga-Alta Loma district, was promised by officers at Cucamonga last night, following the arrest of Joseph C. McKee and Henry Albert, Jr., sons of wealthy ranchers or the district, and Arthur Skinner, a watchman, 39 years of age, on the charge that they were taking wine from the plant of the Mission Winery Company on the San Mernardino Boulevard. Albert furnished hall and the other two prisoners were held in the jail at Ontario for arraignment today.

Constable Hirst of Cucamorga, who led in making the arrests, charges that McKee, when taken into custody, was leaving the winery with a jug of wine labeled "vinegar." Albert and McKee, it is asserted, drove to the winery in the former's car. Skinner, who for months has been the watchman at the plant, is believed to have furnished the mislabeled wet goods. According to the officers, he has confessed and has given them valuous names of persons to whom he says he furnished the forbidden beverage.

BROKEN GLASS SEVERS ARTERY.

Pomona Boy Receives Serious Injuries in Fall.

While standing in the bath tub he accidentally slipped and in falling put his arm through a window. The glass cut his arm above the elbow and severed an artery. Before he could be gotten to the hospital he had lost a great quantity of blood and it was feared the accident would have fatal termination.

This afternoon, however, it was stated that while his condition was serious it is not-believed that his injuries will prove fatal. When first taken to the hospital it was feared amputation might be necessary.

a greatly improved condition and it is expected he will be able to leave his rooms in a week or ten days.

Dr. E. E. Kelly, who is attending him, says it may be a month before he can be back at work, because of the broken bone ir his wrist. According its reports of the accident Hooppell was riding west on Holt avenue, in pursuit of a speeder.

Rev. Stewart who is occupying the pulpit of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, was driving east on Holt avenue, and turned af Claremont Place to go to his residence. In his effort to avoid the motercycle the clergyman swung his machine suddenly to the left but the speed of the motoccycle was too great and the officer hit that he was thrown violently from his machine. He suffered concussion of his brain, the small bone of his left arm was broken and his face and other parts of his body were badly lacerated, while an ugly gash about an inch long was cut in his scalp.

mash about an inch long was cut in his scalp.

He was picked up unconscious by passers-by and taken to the office of Dr. Keily, where his injuries were dressed. He was unconclous for several hours. Rev. Stewart was summoned to appear before Justice Harry Mason, to answer to a charge of cutting a corner in swinging into his criveway without first going to the corner. It is against the Pomona traffic ordinance to turn in the middle of a block.

LOCKJAW VICTIM.

Glen Netzley, I years of age, died

Glen Netaley, 7 years of age, died today at the Pomona Valley Hospital where he was taken yesterday for treatment for lockjaw. The little fellow stepped on a nail last Thursday and while the injury was very painful and serious, it was not thought he was in danger of losing his life until yesterday when lock-law set in. He was rushed to the hospital and every effort made to save his life, but the infection had gained such a hold-that very little could be done for him.

PROTEST MEETING. PROTEST MEETING.

What is to be the forerunner of a big legal battle is the mass meeting called by the Laverne City Council for next Thursday night of residents and property owners of the district, to register formal protest against alleged practice of diverting water from the Laverne watershed of the San Dimas and Covins watersheds in a manner contrary to the regulations covering the subject.

The meeting will no doubt attract a large portion of the town as much indignation is being voiced.

Within the Laverne watershed some of the finest orange and lemongroves are located. Although this practice is not causing a serious damage at the present time, it was althought to be to the best interests of all concerned to look to the future and stop such proceedings before harm may result.
